fith DAILY GAZETTEER.

Portsmouth, Sept. 4, 1741. HE Daily Post of the 24th of last Month, has given the Publick a very extraordinary Speech, 12 Chesbire Vicar now residing near this Place, which was pronounced by that eloquent Divine line of our last General Election.

much soever the Author of that Daily Paper a the Pathos, the Glow of Fancy, and Rhehim for Liberty which he finds in it; yet every Man must allow, that the Spirit of it is directly to that which ought to be the Guide of a Gendelicated to the Service of a Religion which sothing but Charity and Moderation: How the Regard which has been shewn to Admiral this is the true State of the Cafe: That Gen-Principles were long fince fo well known to this on, that when the King thought proper to in to conduct the American Expedition, they their Approbation of his Majesty's Choice by ing the Admiral with his Freedom .- is Part of their Conduct they were under lafteence, it must be allow'd, that Minhas been once rightly dirocted.

this, upon the Death of Admiral Stewart, they ally chose Mr. Vernon for their Representative, then he could not be elected for any other his therefore was a proper Juncture to shew and to his distinguished Marit and to his diffinguish'd Merit. laquaint him with the Choice they had made, the time to congratulate him upon the eminite he had done his Country. The Letter is in follows:

Portsmouth, Feb. 26, 1741. It de Mayor and Aldermen of the Borough of Portsmouth, do in the Name of the whole tion take the liberty to acquaint you, that on the of Admiral Stewart, late one of our Re-Wager defir'd to know whether it would be to the Corporation to elect you upon that and you were on the 21st elected with great pide ourselves in having had the Honour of you into the Corporation at your going out he prefent Command, and now in being the first who have distinguished their Sense of your Ser- 1 lity, in propagating such notorious Falsheeds and injuvices to your Country, by electing you into Parliament.

· We congratulate you, Sir, on your glorious Suc-

. That all your future Undertakings for the Honour and Interest of this Nation may be equally successful, is the hearty With of,
SIR, Your most Obedient, Humble Servants.

You see here not the least Intimation of any Intention to choose him again at any future Election, and yet the Cheshire Vicar afferts that the Corporation had in their Letter to Mr. Vernon, given him the most solemn Assurances under their Hands, that they would elect him sgain. If this Gentleman had not feen the Letter, his Affertion was rash, imprudent, and uncharitable. If he had seen it, an Imputation of a worse Nature lies Upon what Motives the Majority of the Burgesses acted at the General Election is well known to every Body here. Were they not affur'd that Mr. Vernon would certainly be elected for another Place? And were not all his Friends perswaded, that had he been elected for this Borough likewise, he would not have made this his Option? It would then have been an unnecessary Compliment to have chosen him for this Place, to the Prejudice of another worthy Gentleman, whose Name is sufficient to recommend him to all who have any Regurd to eminent Virtue and distinguish'd Learning; tho' this angry Divine calls him- One of Yesterday, whom we know nothing of, and who is utterly incapable of promoting our common Interest, &c.

But what such an ungovern'd Bigot throws out in the Transports of wild Passion, cannot affect a Mind untainted with any Degree of Rancour and Virulence: And while the honest Man of every Denomination think well of this our Representative, he is not in the least moved when the most violent, and consequently the most infignificant of his opposite Party rifes up to throw Dirt at him. But the the Greatness of his Mind bears with Indifference the Infult offer'd to bimfelf, yet no doubt his Humanity feels a Concern for the Injury done to a Body of worthy Men whom he has the Honour to represent in Parliament.

I cannot here omit faying, that if the Person who wrote the Introduction to this Speech in the Daily Post, were not as much a Stranger to the Character of its Author, as to the Merit of the Composition, he could neither have recommended the one, nor publish d the other.

What Regard can we pay to any Man's Declarations in favour of Liberty, and Truth, and Difinterestedness, if his Actions are not correspondent to his Professions? Let us, to make a right Judgment, difregard Noise and Tumult, and the Fury rous'd by a high Ferment of the Blood, and let us come to Facts.

This zealous Afferter of uncorrupt Principles, at the Death of Queen Anne, receiv'd some Advantages from the Government by ferving the Dock with Buckets; and therefore, to preferve the Continuance of that Favour, at the first Election in the succeeding Reign he gave his Suffrage for that Gentleman who is now the Object of his constant Invectives, and of whose Principles he then declared the utmost Detestation and Abhorrence. You see what Influence guided this unbias'd Patriot! Principle gave way to Interest, and Conscience yielded to the Defire of Gain.

But fince that time, when his Interest no longer subfifted here, and Hypocrify was of no farther Service, he instantly threw off the Mask, and Principle return'd again to her Station; and he became zealous in opposing their Interest who would no longer promote bis own.

It is very far from being agreeable to me to enter fo deep into the dark Side of any Man's Character, especially that of a Clergyman; but his Behaviour has drawn it upon himself, and made it necessary to shew, that a wrong Bias, and corrupt Influence, which he throws upon others, justly recoil upon bis own Head; fince he has quitted the proper Station of his Residence in purfuit of Conquest, and has here erected his Batteries against particular Persons, I think there are no Laws of War which forbid the making of Reprifals.

I appeal now to the World, whether the Corporation has not acted a fair and ingenuous Part, and entirely confident with a just Regard to Mr. Vernon's Merit, a Part which will stand the Test of the strictest Inquiry. And as to the Conduct of this enrag'd Divine, it is sub-mitted to the Publick, whether he has not deviated from his Sacred Character, and from all the Laws of Mora-rious Reflections, to the great 'candal of his Furction. and the Prejudice of feveral of that Society of which he

They write from Dantzick, of the 13th inft. N. S. that in the Action between the Russians and Swedes on the 3d N.S. near Wilmerstrand, the Swedes had 7000 Men slain, besides 2000 made Prisoners, with the Loss of that Fortress, of their whole Artillery, two considerable Magazines, and all their Baggage.

Capt. Medley, Commander of his Majesty's Ship the Nassau, writes word, that his Boats had taken out of a little Bay near Vivero, two Barks laden with Lime and Crockery Ware, and that he had ordered the things to be taken out and the Barks to be funk.

And Capt. Marun, Commander of his Majesty's Ship the Affiliance, writes word, that he has taken two Prizes, which he is bringing to Spithead; the first of which is called the Conception, of 180 Tons, bound f om Port Passage to Cartagena, with Beef, Pork and Flour for the King of Spain's Heet; she was commanded by Don Juan Gonzalez, and had 37 Men on board. And the other, the St. Dominique, of 200 Tons, bound from Greenland to St. Jean de Luz, with Oil and two Whales, and had 62 Men on board. Capt. Martin is also bringing with him to Spithead two Prizes taken by Capt. Harrison in the Argyle off of Oporto.

The Providence, Soaper, lately arriv'd at Plymouth from South Carolina, the Day after he came out was brought to by a Boston Privateer, who had then in his Possession a Spanish Privateer of 10 Tons, 4 Swivel Guns and 20 Men, which had taken about two Months before the Crawford, Ford, from London for Carolina, without any Opposition.

We hear by Letters from York, that the Hercules Vinegar there, who at the late Election of Members for that City appeared so remarkably active and vigorous in support of the Country Interest, and whose Services upon that Occasion were so highly valued by the whole Party as to obtain for him the throngest Assurances of their Fayour, and that a Ship should be built and fitted out by Subscription, of which he should have the Command in order that the War against Spain might be prosecuted with more Effect and Vigour, proves at last to be a Felon Convict, who has return'd from Transportation before the Expiration of the Term, and is now actually committed to York Caftle.

What a Concern must it be to every true Lover of his Country, to find the Publick thus depriv'd of the Affiftance and Gallant Endeavours of fo Worthy and Enterprising a

LAMBERT, Mayor.

HEREAS the Fishery of the River of Thames is of late become extreamly decayed, and decreased; and divers Persons, both Fishermen and Others, (notwithstanding the several Acts of Parliament now in Force, viz. the First of Queen Elizabeth; the Ninth of Queen Anne; and the First of King George the First) do daily Sell and expose to Sale, great Quantities of Small Brood and Unfizeable Fifh. contrary to the Meaning of the faid Acts, and to the great Prejudice of the Fishery in general.

In Order to prevent which Grievance, the Right Hon. Daniel Lambert, Elq: Lord Mayor of the City of London, and Conservator of the River of Thames and Waters of Medway, has thought fit to describe and make Publick the Assize of the several forts of Fish hereaster mentioned; That Ofenders may thereby be the more eafily discovered and brought to Justice; to wit.

By the Statute of the First of Queen Elizabeth, C. 17, and which is made perpetual, Anno 3. Charles the First.

And by the Statute of King George the First, the Affize of the Fish following are to contain in Length from the Eyes to the Extent of the Tail

5th, Bret or Turbet to be 16 Inches 14 Inches 6th, Brill or Pearl to be 7th, Codlin to be 12 Inches 6 Inches

8th, Whiting to be 9th, Bass or Mullet to be 12 Inches (Fish or more. 10th, Sole to be 8 Inches 11th, Place or Dab to be 8 Inches_

12th, Flounder to be 7 Inches On a Penalty of 20 s. one Half to the Informer, the other Half to the Poor of the Parish where the Offence shall be committed, with the Fish so taken. And by the By-Laws of the Fishermens Company duly allow'd and confirm'd, all Roach, Dace, and other Small Fish, commonly call'd Kettle Fish, are to be fix

And by a Clause in the Act of Parliament, for the Preservation of the Fishery within the River of Thames, made in the 9th Year of the Reign of Queen Anne, It is Enacted, that no Person whatsoever, shall from and after the 10th day of June 1711, wilfully Kill, or expose to Sale, any Spawn, Fry, or Brood of Fish, or Spatt of Oysters, or any Unsizeable, Small, or Unwholesome Fish; or Catch, Kill, or Destroy, any Fish out of Season, or expose such Fish to Sale, or wilfully or knowingly Buy, Harbour, Receive, or use as Food for Hoggs, or otherwise, any such Spawn, Fry, Brood of Fish, or Spatt of Oysters, Unsizeable, Small, or Unwholesome Fish, or any Fish caught out of Season, on Pain of being punished as herein after is mentioned.

Also the said Act impowers the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London, and the Justices of the Peace, of the respective Counties, or any One of them within their several Jurisdictions, to hear and determine Offences, and to lay a Fine upon the Offender, not exceeding Ten Pounds, nor under Five Shillings, and gives the Fine, for all Offences committed within the Lord Mayor's Jurisdiction, one Moiety to the Informer, and the other Moiety to the Lord Mayor, as Confervator; and for all Offences committed out of the Lord Mayor's Jurisdiction, the one Moiety to the Poor of the Parish, and the other Moiety to the Informer.

Wherefore, as the Preservation of the said Fishery is of fuch particular Concern and Benefit to the Cities and Liberties of London and Westminster, as well as Places adjacent, the faid Lord Mayor doth earnestly require all Conitables, Headboroughs, Church-Wardens and Overfeers, and all other Perfons within his Jurisdiction; that they will take Care, that no Small Brood, or Unfizeable Fish, under the several Assizes above described, be Sold or exposed to Sale, by any Person or Persons whatfoever, but that they do take up and apprehend all fuch Offenders, and carry them before the next Justice of the Peace, that they may be Fined and Punished according mer defires to be convinced of this, needs only the Conduct of their Scribes upon a late Occasion. finan published July 25, 1741. in which there dof the present Parliament, so distinguished as the Party for whom it is written a Majority of m; there is a Scheme shewing the Expediency gour Constitution in such a Manner as that a Parliament may be of another Complection present (tho' it has not yet fate) is supposed that Lift was publish'd as it is now pretended, b keep up the Spirits of the Malecontents, it nd to imagine that fuch as are no Malecontents ndeavour to defeat that End; and in order to hat was fitter for them to do, than to examine ands of that Scheme. In doing this, the first that Supposition was the observing, that Supposition in where the Place of Proof. It is supposed, by Gentleman whose Name is printed in Roman is in their Sentiments; that is, represents a al not the People. It is supposed, that of these * Majority ; of the Truth of which if the Authe Lift had been thoroughly perswaded, he ther have printed it, for there is no need of supthe Spirits of a Party who are fure of carrying it. It is supposed, that this List proves that is in a great measure on one Side; which beapposition deduced from other Suppositions, to be admitted : However, on the Strength Appeted, that our Constitution object entack'd supposition. This struck the Person who wrote a Papers on the List, and induced him to write the force People in Power, but to secure the of British lat our Constitution ought entirely of Britain, to fecure them from the Lofs of Maliution, under Colour of perpetuating Patri-

Crafifman in the dreffing up of his Scheme had a decisive Judgment, against the Towns of Main fendi g Representatives to Parliament, as oco, a Sentince from Bishop Burnet, that the a Broughs are the rotten Part of our Constitu-

In Answer to this the Writer against the Crafts. man faid, that the Authority of Bishop Burnet was not decifive, and that if it was it would decide against the Craftsman. By way of Reply to this, the ingenious Author of that Paper did in his Journal of August 15. call upon the learned Son of Bishop Burnet to revenge the Insult offer'd to his Father's Memory. Here the true Spirit of the Party appears : The Craftiman knew he was in the Wrong, but to hide that from his Adherents would fain have ftirr'd up a Quarrel. The Author he had to deal with kept to his Point, inferted fairly the whole Passage from Bishop Burnet, and thereby proved, that the Schemist had mistaken, or rather perverted, the Bishop's Meaning; and in consequence of this we have never heard one Word of the Matter since.

In the Craftsman of the 5th instant, the same Arts are purfued, and all imaginable Pains is taken to convert this serious Dispute between the present Electors for the Boroughs and Cinque Ports, and those who are for thripping them of that Right, into a personal Altercation between Caleb D' Anvers, Esq; and a Writer in this Paper with whom he has an inveterate Quarrel. But in all that long Paper there is not a Word faid as to the real Question about the Reasonableness or Right of this Scheme's taking place. An Attempt indeed is made to recriminate, by alledging, that some Distinctions were made in the Gazetteers; yet taking the thing as he states it, it is much for the Honour of this Paper; for he admits, that fuch Distinctions were quickly discontinued. because certainly they saw the Imprudence and Want of Decency in such a Practice; so that on the whole, they went wrong with Company, and right by themselves.

But why this Accident should strike any Man who diflikes the Craft/man's Lift, dumb, I cannot imagine, because, as has been often shewn already, his was a quite different Case; other Papers might flatter their respective Parties, but this alone fell upon the Constitution, declared the Boroughs and Cinque Ports, rotten Parts, and by proposing the Expediency, most certainly threaten'd them with Amputation. What makes this still the more heinous is, the very thing offer'd in Excuse of it, viz. the suggesting, That their great Majority lies in a certain Kind of Members; since the very Drift of the Scheme is, That for the future we should have no other, or at least very few other Kind of Members than these. Now, if the Gazetteer had ever propos'd a Scheme of this Sort, viz. That the Frame of Parliaments should be so altered as to give his favourite Members, not a Majority only, but a perpetual Majority, this might have fome Way ferv'd the Craft/man's Purpose, and I with great Readiness should have given them both up together; but for a Man to plead, that his Neighbour committed a Trespass, and that this ought to attone for his TREASON, must be new and strange to all the World; but it must be among the Malecontents, and, I doubt, not amongst the Majority of them, that this will pass for Reason.

In the Country Journal of this Day we have two Specimens of the same Kind of Artifice; first, there is a Tub thrown out about Controverted Elections, in order to fee, whether this would beget another Dispute, and fo rid the Party of the old one. In the next place, we have abundance of new Scrokes of Secret History, in order to try, whether it is not possible to change a National Dispute for a Quarrel amongst Authors. But I will venture to affert, all these Flourithes will prove useless, tho' the Craft/man has certainly afforded the fairest Handle that could be defired for attacking himfelf and his Coadjutors in their Political Characters. But alas! to what purpose that, when it is easy to shew, that the Defigns of the Opposition would be equally fatal to every Party amongit us, and end in putting a Junto, who would facrifice all Parties, into a Capacity of grafp. ing all they aim at - Power. In a just Sense of which it may be expected, that the wife Men of each Party will appear against th

To return to where I fet out: The Question is now fo changed, and fo generally mittaken, that the whole Herd of the Patriots concur in promoting fuch Schemes as they at first pretended to detest, and by a strange Fatality, they have scarce decried any thing violently in one Sessions, which they have not as violently espoused in another. Thus, they have magnified the Hardship of loading the People with new Taxes, and have notwithstanding declaimed against the Application of the Sinking Fund, when it was done purely to avoid new Taxes. They have treated Regular Troops, tho' the keeping them up was absolutely necessary, a a National Restraint and a direct Violation of our Freedom; and yet they endeavoured to velt fuch a Power in the Officers of the Army as would have made them really dangerous, and created at least a new Species of Power independent alike of the Crown and of the Commons. Sometimes they are warm Friends to the Church, and at prejent they are great Enemies to the Papifts, at others they have armed in the Cause of the Dissenters, and if they could once engage the Government to perfecute the Papills, they would be then as furioufly against Perfecution. Eager for War, but uneafy at the Expence; ford of the Balance of Power, yet Enemies to Negociation and Treaty; ready to defend the King's Foreign Dominions, till they fancied they stood in need of Desence, and then ready to rouse the People to Sedition by telling them Tales of their Half-brethren at Hanover. Such are these candid, difinteretted, and loyal People !

One thing I had forgot: The Craft/man talks of Sufferings by Secretaries of State and Special Juries, by high Fines and long Imprisonments; and he seems to intimate a Right of making Reprifals. Every honest Man must be forry when he fees Punishments necessary, every good-natur'd Man will pity those who suffer, even according to their Deferts; but no reasonable Man will believe, that legal Sufferings ought to disarm Men against the Laws; and yet this seems to come closer to the Point than any thing elie he has faid, for in the Scheme printed in his Paper we have feen the Constitution stretch'd on the Wheel, and all that we endeavour is, to prevent the Bar from falling on any of its Members. If therefore the Craft/man will fay, that his Scheme has been millaken, and that his Patrons hav no fuch Intention, it will put an end to the Dispute at to him, if not, all the Boroughs in Great Britain wil do well to consider what legal Right they have to instruct their Representatives, and exert it.

HE following is the Account the Court of Russia itlelf has thought fit to publish of their Victory over the Swedes in Finland, which shews also, that the Battle was fought on the 20th and not on the 27th ult.

' All Persons have been already inform'd by a Manifesto, that the Crown of Sweden had declar'd War against the Empire of Russia in July last, without the least Provocation, and in a Manner unjust, and therefore disagreeable to God: Whereupon his Imperial Majesty has been oblig'd to take Arms for Defence of his Empire and his faithful Subjects. And in the very Beginning of this War unjustly undertaken by the Swedes, Almighty God has been pleas'd to pour down his Favour and Bleffing on the just Arms of his Imperial Majesty, and thereby to convince the whole World, that he is the true Protector of the Just, and the Avenger of Injustice; fince the Adjutant General Campenhausen arriv'd the 25th ult. with Dispatches from the Velt-Marshal de Lascy, advising, that his Excellency advancing on the 19th with a Body of Troops near Willmanstrand, a Fortress on the Swedish Frontiers, met there with a great Body of the Enemy's Horse and Foot, which was posted very advantageously under Cannon that were planted on a Hill and under the Artillery of the Fortress itself. The General went the same Evening to take a View of the Enemy's Camp and its Neighbourhood, and next Day in the Afternoon, having implor'd the Divine Affiltance, he attack'd them. The Battle was a very bloody one, the Enemy defending themselves for feveral Hours like Desperadoes; but at length, by the Grace of God, and by the extraordinary Bravery and Valour of our Men upon this Occasion, Victory declar'd for 'em. The Enemy were not only defeated, with the Lofs of several thousand Men on the · Spot, but the Fortress of Wilmanstrand was also taken · by Storm. The General Wrangel who commanded the Swedish Army was taken Prisoner, with several Colonels and other superior Officers, and above 2000 Soldiers. All the Artillery, the Baggage of the Army, and every thing in general which was in the Fortress of Wilmanstrand, fell into the Hands of our

. In this Battle we loft Major-General Uxhull, and among the Wounded are Lieutenant-General Stoffeln. and the Major-General Albrecht. The Velt-Marthal de Lascy will forthwith fend a particular Account of this Action, with an exact Lift of the Kill'd and Wounded both on our Side and that of the Swedes; which as foon as it comes to hand shall be published."

· The last Prize arrived here was a Ship loaden with · Port Wine and Oil : Just now the same Privateer is · arriv'd; she has taken four Prizes more, who are · coming in. We are told one of them is a small Sloop · loaden with Sugar (supposed to be the Roebuck Capt. Stoddard) one with Salt, Mariners Apparel, . &c. for Newfoundland; one with Cables, Anchors, some Pieces of Artillery, and other Stores of War; the last in Ballast. This is all we can discover till the Crews come ashore from the Privateer, or the Prizes

The Revolution, Ward, the Hopewell, Stephenson, and the Adventure, Dunn, (all Colliers) were lost in Sunderland Road the 8th Instant : And the Noble Ann, Richardson, at the same Time and Place, lost all her Masts, and her Hull damaged.

They write from Edinburgh, that on Tuesday S'ennight about nine at Night, Mr. William Scot of Beavelie in Mid-Lothian, Advocate, was suddenly taken ill at his House in that City, and expired immediately. He was a Gentleman of great Sobriety and Virtue, and univerfally esteem'd. Yeslerday the Corpse of Samuel Buckley, Esq; Writer of the Gazette, was carried from his late Dwellinghouse in Chartreuse-square in order to its being interred in the Family Vault in Hornsey Church. The Commissioners of the Excise have promoted Mr.

Richard Willey a Supervisor, to be a Collector, in the room of Mr. Ibottson.

Yesterday the four following Malefactors, condemn'd last Sessions at the Old Baily, were executed at Tyburn, Henry Cooke, for a Robbery on the Highway; Joseph Hudson, for stealing a black Gelding, the Property of Mr. Gilpin;

Pairick Bourne, for Burglary; and Mary Harris, for affaulting and stripping Hester Parker, a Child of ten Years old, in Lambs Conduit-fields. At the Place of Execution they feem'd very penitent, and confess'd the Facts for which they fuffer'd. The Surgeons got the Body of Mary Harris, and the others were taken care of by their Friends.

Elizabeth Hardey, who was likewise to have been executed, for being concerned in the Burglary with Pacrick Bourne, received a Reprieve for Transportation.

Mr. Wilson, of the olden Lottery-office, Charing-cross, kaving fecur'd by his Subscription a large Quantity of Tickets in the present Lottery, is thereby enabled to supply the Town with them on the most reasonable Terms, either in Parcels or fingle ones. His Method of divideing Tickets into Shares, fo advantageous for small Adventurers, having been attended in all Lotteries past with furprifing Success to the Purchasers, occasions every Day more than other a universal Demand for them. As this Lottery confills of 10000 Tickets less than any former one fince the Year 1713, befides seventeen capital Prizes more than were in the last, all of them from 50001. to 5001. each, it is more than probable Tickets will be much dearer before the Drawing, which the Act of Parliament directs shall begin sooner this Year than the laft.
